

Transformative Research in Metabolism (TRiM) “Community Advisory Panel: Opportunities for a Community Dialogue”

Wednesday, July 10, 2024 | 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Photo © Oivind Toien

Location: 1000 University Ave.
Room 158 (aka Old University Park School)

Summary: Learn about research at the Center for TRiM involving hibernation science and possible applications to promote the health and well-being of older adults. This meeting will feature Dr. Anya Goropashnaya. The title of her talk is “Lessons from Hibernating Arctic Ground Squirrels.” We will also have time for open discussion about health and aging topics in the news. Refreshments provided.

Who’s Invited: Community members, seniors, family caregivers, health care providers, and senior service providers who are concerned about senior health.

SPONSORED BY:

The Center for Transformative Research in Metabolism (TRiM).
Light refreshments are to be provided.

RSVP and more information:

Email Denise Daniello, dldaniello@alaska.edu.

